

Institute for State Control of Veterinary Biologicals and Medicines prepared for your convenience new web pages which, as we believe, will satisfy your needs both with respect to content and completeness of the information and to the user friendliness. In order to be able to provide you with the best possible services, we would like to encourage you to keep us informed about any suggestion leading to further improvement of our activities and communication of our activities to the partners, customers and to the public.

We have therefore prepared a short form for your convenience you can use whenever you wish to contribute to the improvement .

Thank you very much for your collaboration and patience you expressed by respecting the outdated content of the previous web pages and we are looking forward for the further collaboration.

